Municipal Code of Ordinances - Chapter 9 - Comprehensive Zoning - Table of Principle Use Regulation

Utilities: Public water, sewer, natural gas and electricity are available at the property. An 8,000-gallon underground oil tank is located on site and services the heating system.

Area Description: This property is in a gateway neighborhood to the City's southern peninsula. The neighborhood is a combination of mixed-use commercial and residential uses and is within walking distance to neighborhood amenities, including assets such as the City's Cove Walk, beaches, and Hazelwood Park. A public transit route is one block away from the property.

1.02 Conditions of Property

The property available for disposition is available “as is” and the City of New Bedford will not make improvements or changes to the property as a condition of the sale. Conveyance to the successful Proposer shall be subject to all restrictions and conditions of record, insofar as they may be in force and applicable to said parcel(s), and to any contamination as defined in Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 21E as set forth below.

Current Condition:

The existing structure is in sound condition. It is a single-story brick and mortar on a partially full cellar and concrete foundation. The flat roof is concrete supported by steel with some small areas of rolled roofing. The buildings yellow brick façade remains unchanged since the original construction and is in fair condition. The interior wood framed walls have painted plaster and sheetrock finishes with wood trim. The ceilings are a suspended system with florescent lighting inserts. The floors are covered with vinyl tile though out and the windows are glass block and grout. The building is serviced by city gas, water and sewer plus a security system and a 200-amp electric service with an emergency power generator and transfer switch. There is an electric hot water heater and two Tran HVAC systems in a first-floor closet which feeds into the ceiling registers. This building is not handicap accessible nor does it have a sprinkler system. There are 6 private offices, three bathrooms, 6 closets, one shower, janitors’ room, a lobby area and open space for workstations.

Historical Significance: The former police station is a one-story yellow brick building in the Neoclassical style. Constructed in 1926 as a public library it had a public comfort station built in combination, as was the requirement of state legislation for cities or towns with a population over 10,000. The principal building is distinguished by its centered semicircular portico supported by concrete columns with granite bases and semicircular granite stairs. A copper panel entry door with an arched transom and sidelights are a focal point to the portico. A carved concrete cornice supports a paneled parapet. The original arched windows flanking the entrance have been infilled with glass block.

The Comfort Station is connected to the rear of the primary building and fronts Stapleton Street. The three-bay façade has a curved gable terminating in pilasters and topped with a circular pediment. The double entries are covered with curved copper overhangs and distinct original copper doors with circular windows remain.

Parking: There is on-street parking.

1.03 MGL, Chapter 21E

Rehabilitation Standards

STANDARDS FOR REHABILITATION:

The rehabilitation of this property should follow to the greatest extent possible, the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation. The intent of the Standards is to assist the long-term preservation of a property's significance through the preservation of historic materials and features. Rehabilitation is defined as the act or process of making possible a compatible use for a property through repair, alterations, and additions while preserving those portions or features that convey its historical, cultural, or architectural values.

As stated in the definition, "rehabilitation" assumes that at least some repair or alteration of the historic building will be needed in order to provide for an efficient contemporary use; however, these repairs and alterations must not damage or destroy materials, features or finishes that are important in defining the building's historic character. A property will be used as it was historically or be given a new use that requires minimal change to its distinctive materials, features, spaces, and spatial relationships.

1. The historic character of a property will be retained and preserved. The removal of distinctive materials or alteration of features, spaces, and spatial relationships that characterize a property will be avoided.
2. Each property will be recognized as a physical record of its time, place, and use. Changes that create a false sense of historical development, such as adding conjectural features or elements from other historic properties, will not be undertaken.
3. Changes to a property that have acquired historic significance in their own right will be retained and preserved.
4. Distinctive materials, features, finishes, and construction techniques or examples of craftsmanship that characterize a property will be preserved.
5. Deteriorated historic features will be repaired rather than replaced. Where the severity of deterioration requires replacement of a distinctive feature, the new feature will match the old in design, color, texture, and, where possible, materials. Replacement of missing features will be substantiated by documentary and physical evidence.
6. Chemical or physical treatments, if appropriate, will be undertaken using the gentlest means possible. Treatments that cause damage to historic materials will not be used.
7. Archeological resources will be protected and preserved in place. If such resources must be disturbed, mitigation measures will be undertaken.
8. New additions, exterior alterations, or related new construction will not destroy historic materials, features, and spatial relationships that characterize the property. The new work will be differentiated from the old and will be compatible with the historic materials, features, size, scale and proportion, and massing to protect the integrity of the property and its environment.
9. New additions and adjacent or related new construction will be undertaken in such a manner that, if removed in the future, the essential form and integrity of the historic property and its environment would be unimpaired.

Chapter 44: Section 63A. Sales of public land; payment of taxes

Section 63A. Whenever in any fiscal year a town, which term, as used in this section, shall include a city, shall sell any real estate, the board or officer executing the deed therefore in the name and behalf of the town shall, as a condition precedent to the power to deliver such deed, receive from the grantee as a payment in lieu of taxes allocable to the days ensuing in said fiscal year after the date of such deed, a sum which shall be equal to such portion of a pro forma tax computed as hereinafter provided as would be allocable to the days aforesaid if such pro forma tax were apportioned pro rata according to the number of days in such fiscal year; provided, however, that whenever the said real estate shall be sold between January second and June thirtieth of the fiscal year, the town shall also receive an additional amount equal to the entire pro forma tax computed as hereinafter provided and allocable as a payment in lieu of taxes for the next succeeding fiscal year. Such pro forma tax shall be computed by applying the town's tax rate for the fiscal year of the sale, or, if such rate is not known, the town's tax rate for the fiscal year next preceding that of the sale, to the sale price after crediting any exemption to which, if the deed had been executed and delivered on January first of such next preceding fiscal year, the grantee would have been entitled under section five of chapter fifty-nine. A recitation in the deed that there has been full compliance with the provisions of this section shall be conclusive evidence of such fact. Sums received under this section shall not be subject to section sixty-three of this chapter or to section forty-three of chapter sixty, but shall be credited as general funds of the town.
